

apply basic math facts”, Remedial and Special Education, Vol. 13, 1992, pp. 19-35.

[20] Kami, C., “Place value: An explanation of its difficulty and implications for the primary grades”, Journal for Research in Childhood Education, Vol. 1 No. 2, 1986, pp. 75-86.

[21] Thomas, N. and J. Mulligan, “Children’s Understanding of the Number System”, Mathematics Education Research Group of Australia, Vol. 22, 1999, pp. 477-484.

[22] Kami, C. and L. Joseph, “Teaching place value and double-column addition”, Arithmetic Teacher, Vol. 35 No. 6, 1988, pp. 48-52.

[23] Hiebert, J. and D. Wearne, “Links between Teaching and Learning Place Value with Understanding in First Grade”, Journal for Research in Mathematics Education, Vol. 23 No. 2, 1992, pp. 98-122.

[24] Wearne, D. and J. Hiebert, “Research into Practice: Place value and Addition and Subtraction”, Arithmetic Teacher, Vol. 41 No. 5, 1994, pp. 272-274.

[25] Parmar, R.S., R. Frazita, and J.F. Cawley, “Mathematics Assessment for Students with Mild Disabilities: An Exploration of Content Validity”, Learning Disability Quarterly, Vol. 19, Spring 1996, pp. 127-136.